

Gracie Rose, a beautiful baby girl, was born May 12, 2001, in Dickinson, ND, the first-born of Justin and Nikki Johnsrud. It was clear from the start that Gracie was a force to be reckoned with – a very long labor for mom was her plan. We all learned quickly that Gracie did things on her own time. Gracie thoroughly enjoyed the status of only child as her family later moved to Pierre, SD, and then Minot, ND. Gracie was quite jealous when little brother Judd Allen joined the family in 2005 and didn't quite know what to think of the little redhead. Gracie's love for her brother was demonstrated frequently through hugs that nearly took his head off or bending back his fingers, and was even known to lovingly drag him from the furniture. Gracie and Judd became fierce friends later in their growing-up years and Gracie was so proud of her baby brother and made sure that everyone knew it.

Gracie and her family moved to Watford City in 2007, where she graduated from Watford City High School in 2019. Her senior year was filled with memories in every moment whether it be spirit days during homecoming, student council events, or volleyball and football games. On the court or on the sidelines she was the biggest cheerleader there could be, and her friends said she was the team's true MVP and the glue that held the team together.

After graduation Gracie selected Black Hills State University in Spearfish, SD as her home away from home. Gracie was ambitious and was a double major in elementary and special education and just finished her sophomore year. She loved BHSU and there continued to change the lives of those around her and was excited for all her planned adventures.

Gracie's family and faith played an integral role in her life and she cherished every moment spent with them all as often as she could. Gracie, in her own words, was busy living her best life. Gracie lived her life with the phrase "there's grace for that" at the forefront so much she had it tattooed as a constant reminder of God's grace. Gracie had a giving heart and helped anyone in need. She was her faith and gave of herself unconditionally as if it were the most natural thing in the world. Those of us who knew her saw this over and over and sat in awe of this special young woman.

Be Alert to the POSITION God has put us in, and be Diligent to Anticipate and Invest in His Plan. We will be given Clarity to Follow, even when His Timing is hard to find Purpose in. Stay Rooted in Faith, Seek the Joy and Kindness and Beauty around us and we will be given the Power to see "There's Grace for That." -Craig Paulson
